WHO AM I?

I am an international Makeup Artist, originally from the Republic of Ireland but now based on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius. I have a passion for expressing myself through the medium of makeup. I pride myself on always taking the time to understand the motivation behind every assignment, resulting in my clients not only looking fantastic but also feeling amazing. Through my natural approach and seamless application methods, I want to deliver a 'product' that goes beyond the expectations of my clients.

WHY SHOULD YOU WORK WITH ME?

You should work with me because you appreciate the style and creative qualities of my work; makeup artistry is not an exact science, and different styles will suit different projects. Although I have perfected a specific style, focusing on clean natural looking makeup I also enjoy the thrill of using bright and vibrant colours.

If my previous work strikes a chord with you, we are considerably more likely to have the synergy required to work successfully together.

You should work with me because I am passionate about all aspects of Makeup Artistry and truly want my clients to feel as good as they look.

FOLLOWING MY PASSION...

I never planned on becoming a make-up artist; it very much happened by accident.

I originally built a career as a school teacher, but all my life, people have pointed out my creative personality. When I was younger, I expressed that creativity through drawing and painting, but it was a chance makeup course, which made me realise my passion for makeup artistry.

Today, many years later, I have left behind the school classroom. Instead, I occupy my time in my makeup studio, where I couldn't be happier.

“Do what you love and you will never work a day in your life.”
